INTENDED.
Shirt Waists of all kinds, especially laundried, from 40c up, and the new line of Tuck Skirts now so popular, being extra long to fasten at the belt—a nice variety of colors. Ladies' silver, gold and enameled House Wafers, Jet studs and sleeve buttons from 25c per set upwards—solid silver at 50c per set.
EVERY
Important to the housekeeper—our Cur- tain stock—we've called attention to it be- fore, but buyers must be prompted or they may forget, but once in the department we're sure to sell them, for the line has no rival in any of its points in this vicinity. Think of it. Curtains from 70c per pair up. See the pretty Japan and Persian Portieres. Nothing like them in Wheeling.
& Skirts and Suits, ready-made. Crepons, Silks, Serge and Cloth, regular dressmaker made, in the most stylish way, full lined and full wide. There's about fifty different kinds in our suit department, but the way they moved off last week indicates they won't be here long. Better come in to- morrow.

THOUGHTS.
Try on Umbrellas. It don't worry us one bit to have you ask for them. We know we have the best line, both in black and colored silks, and the greatest variety of Crystal and Dresden Handles. Patterns of every description that are just the thing.
FOR
Underwear—now a very important factor in the wardrobe—light and airy—correct Covers, Gowns, Chemise, Drawers, Shirts, made in the best possible manner, out of the best possible materials, that you can buy from us for about the cost of the ma- terials. SEVERAL BADLY HURT

By a Collision on the B. & O. Near Newark Saturday Night.

A PASSENGER AND FAST FREIGHT

Collide at Fredericktown—A Wheel- ing Man Among the Injured, and Will Lose an Eye—An Account of How it Occurred—A Postal Clerk, Engineer and Fireman Hurt.

Saturday evening a report reached Wheeling that a wreck on the Central Ohio railroad at Fredericktown Charles Gregg, the well known mail agent, had been killed, and Engineer McDonagh and Fireman Whalen badly hurt. Au- thentic reports that came later, however, said that Gregg was not dead, but very badly hurt, losing one eye.

Some of the mail sacks that came into the office here yesterday morning were saturated with water and blood. They had been in the wreck.

A detailed story of the collision, re- ceived yesterday, says:

Running at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, the Baltimore & Ohio passenger train No. 8, going east, and the fast freight No. 9, going west, came together with terrific force at Frederick- town Saturday night. Luckily all the passengers escaped without serious in- jury, but the trainmen were not so for- tunate. The passenger train is due at 9 p. m. and it was on time. It is a limited mail train and does not stop there. It was rushing through the town at its usual speed, when, with scarcely an instant's warning, it crashed into the engine of the freight train coming from the opposite direction on the main track. The passenger train was in charge of Conductor Fred Ray- mond, of Newark.

The engineer of the passenger train was Michael McDonagh, who lives at Newark and his fireman was W. W. Whalen, also of Newark. The brave engineer stuck to his post. He was badly hurt, but will recover. He no doubt saved the lives of many on the train.

Engineer Carson, of the freight train, and his fireman seeing that a collision was inevitable leaped from their engine and escaped without serious injury.

The cause of the wreck was due to the delay of the freight train in making the siding at Fredericktown. The passenger train had orders for the right of way, but the freight train in climbing the grade just south of the town had broken in two, so the trainmen claim. This delayed them from making the side- track in time. The freight trainmen claim that they had started a flagman ahead to warn the passenger train, but the flagman had gone only a short dis- tance before the passenger engine hove in sight and an instant later the two had come together. The freight train at the time of the crash was running slow. As a result the passenger engine ran right through the freight engine. The ten- ders of both engines were destroyed. The passenger engine plowed on through the freight, wrecking three or four freight cars. Next to the freight engine was a carload of cattle. It was telescoped also and all but four of the brutes were killed.

Next to the passenger engine was a mail car and baggage car. The mail car was completely wrecked and a por- tion of it was hurled into Owl creek, along whose bank the railroad runs at this point.

The loss to the railroad company is estimated at $20,000. The main track was blocked for several hours. The wrecking train from Newark was at the scene within an hour after the ac- cident. The rear car of the passenger train was the advertising car of Main's circus, but no one in the car was in- jured.

Mr. Gregg's home is at Barnesville, O., but he made his headquarters in Wheeling. He has been on the road three or four years and is well liked by all who know him. The news that he is not fatally hurt will be welcome here.

CRIMINAL MATTERS.
Notes About Cases in the Local Courts. Two Fugitives.

There is comment every day on the foolish way men, women and children run after the city patrol wagon, and the officers have long tried in vain to stop it. They crowd upon the grays about police headquarters and peer in the windows when a "plain drunk" is locked up as if he were a murderer. It is not creditable to the community, and the large number of children in such crowds is not creditable to their parents.

Two men who some time ago jumped their bail at Waynesburg, Pa., as men- tioned in the INTELLIGENCER at the time, reposed in the county jail last night, having been recaptured, one at Point Mills, this county, and the other at Barnesville, O. They will be taken back to Waynesburg on this morning's train.

The trial of Victoria Dodson for as- sault and battery on her husband, Phil- ipp Dodson, will occur in Squire Phil- ipp's court at 2 p. m. to-day. Wife-beat- ing cases are not uncommon in the courts, but a husband-beating case is a rarity.

Officer Bero last night brought in a stranger too drunk to give his name. This was the first arrest by the police yesterday.

Rice's "1408" To-night.

At the Opera House this evening Rice's famous extravaganza, "1402," will be the attraction. Its fame long ago reached Wheeling. The principal char- acters are entrusted to the capable hands of Mark Smith, Will H. Sloan, Ross Snow, George Paxton, W. T. Carle- ton, Hugo Gruber, Pusey and Readway, Willie Torpey, Miss Yolande Wallace, Carrie Behr, Gertrude Ruilez, Mae Osborne, Daisy Thompson and Alma Russell and a host of other celebrities. The entire aggregation numbers sixty people and carry their own orchestra and entire scenic and mechanical equip- ment. In one scene two hundred and fifty 16-candle electric lamps are exhib- ited, fairly flooding the stage with bril- liancy, which so exquisitely displays the richness of the costumes and the efforts of the scenic artists. It is said of "1402" "there is more female lov- eliness in this organization than any sim- ilar production has ever pretended to possess."

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT.

The Proceedings at Saturday's Session of These Tribunals.

In the circuit court Saturday, before Judge Paul, in the case of Aughin- baugh Canning Co. vs. Baer Son's Gro- cery Co., the demurrer of the defendant was overruled, and defendant will plead April 27.

P. B. Dobbins was appointed a jury commissioner for the term of four years, commencing June 1.

In the case of Charles Hirst vs. John H. House and John Applegate, the hearing upon the pending notice took place at 2 p. m.

In the case of John Goshorn vs. Christian Frank, et al., the hearing upon the pending motion was set for May 1.

In the case of John McLure's execu- tors vs. F. P. Jepson, there was judg- ment for $137.70.

In the case of Charles Hirst vs. John A. House, the motion of the plaintiff to forfeit the bond was continued until April 27.

Messrs. Post and Elson, appointed as a committee to examine and report as to the condition of the clerk's office, made their report, in which they say:

"The fee book, order books, judgment and education docket books, and all books required to be kept, appear to be kept properly and as required by law. The method and manner of keeping the papers filed in different causes by the clerk is especially to be commended."

Lack of room in the clerk's office is very noticeable, and the committee strongly recommends that the room be immediately beneath the present office be secured as additional quarters for said clerk's office. But little expense would be required, and the improve- ment would be great. It is also recom- mended that a small elevator be pro- vided for transferring books and papers to and from the clerk's office and Part I of said circuit court, also that each of the present court rooms, and the room occupied by the judge, be connected with the clerk's office by means of speaking tubes. The adoption of such improvements would greatly assist the clerk in his duties and save much time and unnecessary labor. The commit- tee cannot too highly praise the careful and efficient work of the clerk, John W. Mitchell, and his able and accommo- dating assistant, John Walton, to whose energy and skill the court and bar are indebted for the excellent pocket in- dexed docket of all causes pending used for the last year.

The Navarre Club's Ball To-night.
This evening the much talked-of ball of the Navarre club, a new fishing or- ganization, takes place at the Beethoven hall, and the sale of tickets already guarantees one of the largest balls ever seen in that hall. The affair is in charge of competent committees, and no effort has been spared to make the occasion a thoroughly enjoyable one to all. Meister's orchestra will furnish the music, which is a sufficient guaran- tee that that part of it will be all right. A number of invitations have been sent out to the best people and accepted, and there will certainly be a genial crowd present to-night.

A Handsome Wagon.
Col. Zeke Ball, the well-known and popular ice dealer, has received from the shops of Laing, of Pittsburgh, one of the handsomest delivery chariots ever seen in this city. Its artistic features are only excelled by its mechanical per- fection. The body of the wagon is painted a wine color, with gold lettering and trimmings. It will carry five tons of ice.
